

Shri Ramchandra Vaidya Ayurvedic Medical College & Hospital, Lucknow

Central Research Wings

The Central Research Wings at Shri Ramchandra Vaidya Ayurvedic Medical College & Hospital, Lucknow, functions as a dedicated, centralized research unit that supports clinical studies, academic research activities, and interdisciplinary collaborations by seamlessly integrating diagnostic, pharmacognostic, and structural data from various foundational core departments. This specialized research collective dynamically bridges the academic and practical resources of the Department of

- Roga Nidan evam Vikriti Vigyan (Pathology Laboratory)
- Department of Rachana Sharira (Anatomy Laboratory)
- Department of Dravyaguna Vigyan (Pharmacognosy Laboratory)
- Quality Control Laboratory.

To ensure absolute academic transparency, scientific validity, and regulatory compliance, a comprehensive overview of each respective department explicitly detailing its available infrastructure, operational facilities, list of instruments and equipment, and specialized research facilities for undergraduate students and faculty members has been fully enclosed herein.